

who we are

---

jessica moy

Half-French, half-Chinese. Journalism major, minoring in English and drama. Fashion lover. Soccer player. I'm the girl you bring home and your mom instantly loves. Future author, fashion designer, and if all goes well – wife of Ryan Gosling.

christina grace cheng

I'm currently a fifth year journalism specialist and English major student at the University of Toronto. Once I've completed my degree in journalism and major in English, I hope to become a television broadcast reporter/anchor for news and entertainment, as well as a web and print journalist for newspapers and magazines.

mersiha gadzo

A polyglot, flaneuse, and world traveller in the making. Specializing in journalism and finishing my French major in Lyon, France. Based in Toronto and Sarajevo. You'll probably see me reporting from war zones and chaotic revolutions in the future. Don't underestimate the smile.

kayla kreutzberg

I'm "that" girl. The social butterfly who loves a good party. I'm majoring in journalism, with a double minor in geography and English. I live and breathe sports. So when I conquer my dream of being a sports reporter, I'll be sure to wink at the camera for you.

maryam musharaf shah

I'm a writer, photographer and avid potato lover. Based in Karachi and Toronto. Majored in cultural anthropology. Ambitious to the point of being extremely self-destructive. Favourite band: Nirvana. Grunge shall live on.